Football Notes

The Chauvin team went out to the Airlie Picnic on June 3rd and played a game with Airlie.

Whilst the game was very one sided. Airlie uncovered some talent that will develop into good football material—Mathison played well at centre forward and made several passes to both wings that were generally spoiled however, by the wing men being out of the game. Dick Newstead, played a good game at left half and was the handiest worker on the field—Foxwell at left back also put up a great game—as did the outside right. The game was free from fouls except in the second half when a tendency to play the man instead of the ball developed. This is no good and sets a team nowhere.

(4) Four goals were scored by Chauvin in the first half and 3 three in the second. Mills putting the finishing touches to four whilst Guthrie, Hawthorn, and Beatty scored all each. Keatley also played well and was responsible for a good pass to Mills which scored a goal.

The half backs put up a strong defence. Mathon probably showing up strongest, altho Fitz ran him close. Johnson was out of position at centre as was not as good as usual.

Forch and Furman were unheatable at back and did not once let their opponents trouble, Freddy Laplante who had a cold job in goal.

With a little more practice, Airlie will be able to make us hustle, especially if the forwards will learn to play their positions, allowing their half backs and backs to play defense, and be ready to take the ball when it is passed out to them. Several times good passes were wasted and openings spoiled thru a forward having gone back to help the defense.

The game finished at 5 p.m. Result Chauvin 7 goals, Airlie 0.

The weather man seems to want to act as referee in the long looked for game of football with Wainwright started in force with all the players in fine condition to do "the grand" They were supported by a number of the fair sex to waive, were unheatable. But after proceeding ten miles it was decided, that with the pouring rain about them and roads paved with mud ahead, it was impossible to get to Wainwright and return by car.

Gloomy as the secretary looks of being unable to pull off the expected, you will notice a goodly broad smile under the surface. Rain is always a welcome visitor. The mare rain we get the more sport we shall have. And we trust in the near future to pull off the game with Wainwright in proper style.

Mrs Skoag Funeral

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. Skoag, of Prosperity by his numerous friends through the sudden death of his wife. She along with members of the U.F.W.A. met in a friendly capacity to bid farewell to one of their friends, who is leaving the province, when she took seriously ill with acute palpitation of the heart, her friends did all they could to relieve her till the doctor arrived, who with his valuable and professional skill failed to restore her to consciousness, she passed away on Wednesday morning. Deceased was a lady who was held high in esteem by her many friends, hers was a beautiful and industrious life, and she had a high conception of what character should be. Her demise will be a great loss to the district. Besides her husband, she leaves two children Winnie and Audrie and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

The funeral service, which was very impressive, was conducted at the home by Rev. Mitchellson.

The interment took place at Chauvin cemetery on Friday June 4th. A short service being held at the grave, where a large number of friends were gathered to pay their last respects to one who will be greatly missed.

L. J. Sand Funeral

The funeral of Lars J. Sand took place on Friday, June 4th 1920. Rev. Braa, of Viking conducted a brief impressive service in the home. The cortege then proceeded to Zion church where a short service was held. The interment took place in Zion cemetery. The body of Mr. Sand being laid by the side of the late Mrs. Sand, his wife.

About 130 people—relatives and friends of the deceased attended to pay their last respects to one who had been amongst them so long and was well respected.

Some 30 cars and 10 teams were used for conveying the mourners to the funeral.

Mr. Sand leaves three sons—Oscar, Emilie and Henry, and one daughter, Mrs. T. Veitold to mourn his loss.

Card Of Thanks

The Sand family wish to express their sympathy and kind help extended to them by neighbours and friends during the sickness and death and funeral of their father; Lars J. Sand. OSCAR SAND.

Mrs. James Swan wishes to thank her friends for the many presents and souvenirs given to her by them, when leaving Chauvin and appreciates their kind thoughts of her very much.

MRS. JAMES SWAN

"Down on the rocks for a start" said Harry Foxwell to us, when Teddy introduced him to ourselves. And sure enough, he was handling rocks for the new foundation of the City Meat Market. Harry has recently arrived from the Old Country, and are long we may see him resident in his own mansion built of, shall we say "granite"

Oxville News

The Annual schools picnic was held at Oxville Thursday June 3rd. The teachers and children from Waverly, Winona and Crosslunds schools were there. A large number of parents were also there. The sports program was splendid with keen competition amongst the youngsters. The ladies had a tug-of-war which everyone enjoyed, so did the men.

A baseball match was played by the local amateurs. There was more than enough ice cream, lemonade and other refreshments. Needless to say it was done full justice to by all. The grown-ups topped it with a dance at night in the schoolhouse.

Three young men went down the river for fish. If you want to know the rest ask George.

Mr. Dow has sold his farm to George Sisk, and has purchased C.P.R. land adjoining the school.

The dust is bad over that way these days, but I must explain that its only Mr. Dow getting started on his newly acquired quarter.

The Government Telephone representative was around here last week taking applications for the telephone. Almost everyone here has applied for it.

Winona U. F. A.

All roads lead to Winona.

Chauvin High

School Breezes

Various casualties have occurred in the ranks of the H.S. this week. First on the list is Lizzie who fell off her horse and hit her funny bone and didn't find it funny at all.

Nert is Bunlike who had been reading Broncho Busting tales and thought she would try riding a colt. She fell off and jarred her thumb, a thing which of course never happens to any heroine in fiction. She also had the misfortune to collide violently with the bat, thereby jarring a large bump on her cranium. But its an ill wind that blows nobody good, perhaps the examiner will think its a bump of knowledge and let her through easy.

The classic outline of Billy Ellis' nose was very nicely altered by another careless batter.

If we don't all succumb to our injuries we may be able to play baseball "Someday"

Flossie hurt her heel, but this was just the result of trying to be fashionable.

Then there is the Heavyweight who can't bat the ball and is perpetually being hit by it. She is in danger of ruining Cecil's naturally sweet disposition, by causing him to say "things."

The only one who has received no injuries is the lady umpire, who has a good "eye."

Editorial

EARLY CLOSING

The Chauvin storekeepers have decided to adopt the principle of early closing one day a week.

Frankly speaking we do not consider the above statement of fact a sufficient basis on which to write editorially. It would not make much to the total profit or loss of the whole community whether they closed entirely for Wednesday, or on the other hand if they decided to keep their store open until ten or later, as is the custom on Saturdays.

Half Holiday on Farm

The Airtie U.F.A. have recently endorsed the principle of a weekly half-holiday, choosing Wednesday. This action may be regarded as of little importance. It would not appear that the total amount of agricultural products of Alberta would be greatly decreased simply because a few farmers determined to pause for a few hours each week for their labors.

The foregoing remarks are passed casually for the benefit of those in see in this movement simply a desire for less work on the part of those who were the means of bringing these ideas to action in our own midst. We wish to pass comment briefly on the larger and more important aspect of the question.

For The Young Folk

Too often, we who have spent from ten to sixteen years in the district, are apt to think of this country as already settled, and with the passing of these years has passed many of our early optimistic visions of the future. Let us face the fact that many of us are about to enter the class of the 'old people' of the district. Together with this our anxiety is increasing as to how many of our boys and girls will stay 'on the farm'.

Bondage or Freedom

Let us also recognize that we have in our midst a growing community of young men and women to whom this district is either a land of promise or a land of bondage.

The question arises "Will a weekly half-holiday, for both rural and urban workers and dwellers, be of any service to both the old and the young above mentioned?"

Efficient Labour

We venture to suggest that if the principle of a weekly half-holiday was consistently observed in both town and country, incalculable benefits would be derived. This is a practical age, and false sentiment must be discarded in the stress of life. The sentiment of continuous labor has been replaced with the sentiment of effective labor. The big businesses of to-day have been built with shorter hours and more effective labor. A true principle must surely be equally true when applied to the true-to-nature of a farming community.

Both industry and commerce have found it profitable to provide a weekly

ADVERTISE YOUR BRAND
YOU SAVE THE COST

half-holiday to their workers, in addition to the sabbath or sacred writ.

More Cheer on Farms

When did we first hear that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy"? In these days of equal rights may we not suggest that Jill, too, be remembered.

When did we first hear of the lure of the city or of the perpetual labor of the farmer?

It is wise, we maintain, to give earnest consideration to these matters. And if possible to at least moderate them, even if we cannot at once entirely correct them.

Will Save Time

It requires but little imagination to picture a country side having a recognized half holiday week, and having a simple system of arranging dates with the result that each week in the different parts of the district there should healthy sport, recreation and get-together spirit, which would be a distinct asset, to community life.

It is probable that such a system would prove more efficient than the present happy go lucky method of arranging our public social events; and provide more recreation at less cost of time than is now spent.

Within the limits of a column it is not possible to more than suggest a few thoughts, but we would leave this matter to your earnest consideration and suggest that it be discussed at the meeting of the local U.F.A.s.

A good road is a friend of the farmer. A mile of road in his community is a bright spot in his life. It is an aid of education, religion and all things that help make the farm home life better.

June 20th Is

U. F. A. Sunday

Members of the United Farmers of Alberta will be well advised to remember that Sunday, June 20th has been set apart as U.F.A. Sunday, the one Sunday of the year when a good U.F.A. member goes to church whether he wants to or not. Now there is no hint meant, or implied that members of the U.F.A. go to church only one Sunday a year, although we harbor a suspicion that in some instances that one Sunday represents the limit.

Cows And Prosperity

Chauvin district is becoming more and more a dairying community, each practice of keeping cows for cream and milk. The soundness of this practice is demonstrated by the success of those engaged in it.

Wherever dairy farming is made a prime factor in agricultural development, solid success results. No type of farming acts so efficiently to conserve the productive qualities of the soil and to make property general among the farmers of the district.

The farmer rejoices greatly at weather conditions these days when he narrowly escapes drowning when moving from the house to the barn. There is nothing like it.

The ancient weather prophet who said that dry years came in bunches in this country is something of a pre-ventor. Think of what happened a year ago, and what is happening this year, and then talk of repetitions successions or cycles of dry seasons.

OUR SMALL ADS. REACH HOME

Crop Prospects

Never were crop conditions better is the gratifying report from every section of the Chauvin district. The grain has been given a splendid start which gives the farmer a marvellous chance against time and the early fall frosts.

The Farmers Worry

At this time of the year, farmers of Alberta undergo a nervous strain as no other class of business men in the country suffer. Every one of them watches the smallest cloud that appears on the horizon, to see if the needed rain is coming. The thermometer is eagerly watched to see that the weather is not too hot by day or too cold at night. His anxiety is justified, for upon the weather depends almost wholly his success or failure for the year. One hot day too much may ruin his prospects of a fine crop, or one day too much rain may do the same thing. One hot wind may shrivel all his prospects and cause him to stare him in the face.

But is the farmer justified in submitting himself to this nerve-racking strain? He would be, if there were no way to avoid it. But there is a way of reducing this worry, if, indeed, not to so far that all will not be lost if one crop is. In other words, the farmer who goes in for mixed farming is in a much more secure position than the one who goes in for grain raising exclusively. The weather that will completely ruin a wheat crop may not so seriously affect an oat crop.

Live stock can live and thrive fairly well under conditions that would blight a grain crop, and profitable crops of roots and vegetables can be raised under conditions that would make a grain failure. When a farmer invests his all in a grain crop he stands to lose it if weather conditions are unfavorable, while the man who invests what he has in a variety of agricultural crops stands a good chance of getting at least a living out of some of them even though circumstances should make others complete failures.

Grain farming is a gamble in which the farmer stands to make all or nothing, but that is not good business. It is safe to say that, even with the splendid prospects there are this year, there is not a farmer or a farmer's wife who would feed a great deal more secure and less worried, if he had some live stock, or a good flock of poultry, or a field or two of roots and vegetables. They would feel that though they may not make a fortune if the weather is unfavorable, they would at least have a good living.

Highway Work Halts

The big program of highway betterment which the provincial government outlined for this year and which the legislature sanctioned without a dissenting voice, amounting to $700,000 from the income and $250,000 from capital charges, is being halted at the very outset by lack of labor.

"This spring is the worst we have met faced in respect to obtaining men and teams on the roads," says the minister of public works. We are being asked $15 a day for a man and two horses at places where we hoped to begin highways work, and it means that we simply can't go ahead unless the demand is more reasonable. We are already allowing $10 a day for man and team and we can't pay any more."

The minister is hopeful that the situation will become easier after the crop is in, and when many farmers and their teams will be free for a time. Natural conditions are almost ideal for road work, with sufficient moisture to place the soil in good workable shape and yet not enough to create the muddy stretches in the low lands. The government program includes $650,000 for the maintenance and construction of main highways, and $300,000 for maintenance and construction of local roads.

Calgary Exhibition

The prize list for the Calgary Exhibition may be obtained by writing to E. L. Richardson, Manager, Calgary. The Fair dates this year are June 26th to July 3rd and entries close on June 14th. Over $7,000 have been added to the prize list for the live stock department for this year, making the total amount offered for all departments now $34,500.

The new hundred thousand dollar cattle stable and judging pavilion will be used for the first time this year and will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the exhibitors.

Calgary is fortunate this year in being able to secure Lockie, possibly the most daring acrobatic performer in the world. He does acrobatic stunts all over an aeroplane and finishes his act by changing from one machine to another in full flight in mid-air. This is positively the greatest attraction that can be obtained for any exhibition.

Auto Polo will also provide many thrills for the fair visitors, while the musical programme will be provided by Canada's crack military band, the 48th Highlanders, of Toronto.

Special passenger rates will be in force for the Calgary Exhibition from all points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia east of Golden on the Main line and Nelson on the Crow's Nest.

EDGERTON CHAUTAUQUA SUCCESSFUL EVENT

The Chautauqua at Edgerton proved to be a great success. More season tickets were sold than the guarantee called for.

The speakers, musicians both instrumental and Vocal were high class and certainly delivered the goods. No trouble was experienced to get forty farmers and a few residents of the village volunteered to guarantee a contract for next year.

The attendance was good and the tent was filled at the evening entertainments.

We are all looking forward with pleasure to next year's Chautauqua.

ARTLAND

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hillier, of Artland, a son on June 4th.

Remember the McInnis dance, Friday June 11th, at Brady school.

Mr. and Mrs. McEae, and family are on a visit to Edmonton.

Mr. MacDonald, Manager and Mr. Pearce, of the Merchants Bank, Chauvin, motored into Artland last Wednesday.

Mr. Gifford was also of the party. None of the above visitors, including the car, appeared any the worse for travelling over the "ideal" roads.

This speaks volumes for the strength and endurance of the whole outfit!

With reference to the observations of "Mustapha of Marsden"—in our last issue, regarding "He or She"—we take this opportunity of mentioning that the "Chauvin Chronicle" has one correspondent only, in Artland, viz: the undersigned, who assumes all responsibilities for what appears in the "Artland Argus Columns."

SMALL ADS—THE LOCAL MARI

responsibility for what appears in the "Artland Argus Columns."

Touching this point of local correspondence for the newspapers, it seems obvious that these good natured people endeavor to carry out to the best of their ability, what they flatter themselves to be, a species of trifling service to the community that surrounds them. They collect items of news, or what in the journalistic argon of the printing office is known as "stones," welcoming at the same time, if fortunate enough to get them, scraps of personal and local interest, from friendly contributors.

This mixture well stirred, and reinforced (or weakened as the case may be) by an eccentric composition on the part of the correspondent, ("He or She") consisting of all kinds of items, political, social or satirical, and fished from the four winds of heaven, is, with a gentle dash of local color, flung out to float or sink in the passing stream.

Personally we think, that these amazing literary gems should be signed by the correspondent, who assumes all responsibility involved in the acceptance of items from contributors. We have reason to think that the Editor of this Journal does not entirely share our views on the general question of anonymity of the Press.

In this matter we agree in the opinion of the most brilliant essayist of the day—C. K. Chesterton—when he remarks:

"It would be an exaggeration to say that I hope some day to see an anonymous article counted as dishonorable as the anonymous letter." Personally we have never been able to understand why, if an anonymous letter is dishonorable, as it most certainly is, editors open their columns to it.

Every letter, and every article that appears in a newspaper, including that paper's rural correspondents, should be signed. The principle involved, applies with equal force to the humblest "backwood" sheet, as to the leading "Thunderer" of Europe, and of the Americans, both north and south.

Sunflower As Ensilage

In the history of Canadian agriculture there is no fodder crop that has enjoyed the same popularity as does the sunflower at the present time. From what is known of the feeding value of this fodder, as a soiling crop or ensilage, the silo and sunflowers methods in Western Canada.

That silos on the farm practically double the stock carrying capacity of the land is a fact that has been fully demonstrated by thousands of farmers in all parts of the American continent, while several practical experiments on experimental stations and on farms throughout the West shows that twice as large a yield per acre can be obtained from sunflowers than from corn or any other ensilage. So satisfactory were the results obtained last season in parts of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, both in the growing and the using of this crop for ensilage that it is safe to say that a considerable area will be planted this year. In the Edmonton district alone between two and three dozen of the leading farmers have signified their intention of seeding sunflowers this season or have already seeded a considerable area.

WANTADS SELL QUICKLY

In Alberta the best crop of sunflowers was that harvested on the C.P.R. demonstration farm at Strathmore in 1919. From an eight-acre field of land an average yield of 34.6 tons per acre was obtained. This was on irrigated land. At Olds, a yield of thirty tons per acre was obtained by one farmer. At the University of Alberta yield of twenty-five tons per acre was harvested. At Vermilion on the provincial experimental station last year where the rainfall was so light that there was practically no grain crop at all a yield of over twelve tons an acre was obtained. At Dayland, Thos. Noble, a farmer, harvested fifteen tons per acre, and Mr. Noble says that under ordinary conditions he would expect the yield to be something enormous—probably twenty-five tons. He used sunflowers as a soiling crop during July and August and filled his silo as well.

Yields similar to those obtained in Alberta were harvested in various parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba and the fact has been sufficiently demonstrated that they will grow and give enormous yields almost anywhere. Feeding tests also show this crop in just as favorable a light. During the past winter Prof. C. H. Eulton, Sup. of agriculture and animal husbandry has shown that the feeding value of sunflower ensilage is superior to corn, or peas and oats mixed, and the results obtained at the Manitoba Agricultural College as shown in the following conclusions which they have arrived at from their work.

1. Sunflower, when mature enough to the extent of the seeds being formed at the time of cutting, makes a very succulent, palatable and nutritious silage.
2. By reason of the excessive molasses which sunflower ensilage contains it freezes to a greater extent than corn in the silo, which, would probably be a decided disadvantage where outdoor feeding is practised.
3. By reason, again, of its extreme succulence, sunflower packs more thoroughly in the silo, and is, therefore, less liable to contain pockets of mould than is corn silage.
4. Dairy cows maintain their milk flow and body weight at least equally as well on sunflower silage as on corn silage.
5. In view of the difficulty of growing corn to maturity in the west and whereas sunflowers generally can be matured and will withstand more frost it would seem to be a good policy to raise sunflowers for ensilage in localities affected by the above conditions.

ations.

The sunflower being a new crop to Western Canada, farmers are asking when, and how, should the crop be seeded and what kind of seed should be used. At the present time there is very little experimental data on dates and rates of seeding, although all investigators agree that the "Russian sunflower" is the best variety. Last year the field at the demonstration farm at Strathmore was seeded in the latter part of May, while in some other parts of the province sunflowers were seeded even later. Some seed has already been planted this year in Central Alberta but the season being much later than last year very little growth has been made. Prof. Cutler, of the University of Alberta feels that there is still time to seed this crop. From the results of the agricultural experimental station sunflowers seeded May 6th yielded 24.8 tons per acre; seeded June 4th, 37.2 tons per acre, while at a later date the yield was somewhat less, however, and early seeding of April 29th yielded 39.7 tons. With the later planting it took a shorter time for the plants to come up and the more favorable conditions at the time of later planting favored prompt germination and rapid growth.

It takes about ten pounds of sunflower seed to plant an acre. The best results have been obtained so far when it was planted in rows thirty-six inches apart and about three inches apart in the rows. The method of seeding that is reported to be most satisfactory is to use the regular grain drill, stopping up the holes so as to plant the seeds in rows the proper distance apart.

At the present there are no standards governing the sale of sunflower seed, as is the case with oats, barley, wheat, etc., and some of the seed that is being sold is very low in germination. Samples tested at the University of Alberta this spring show that the germination ranges all the way from one and one half per cent to sixty-eight per cent. Fortunately the majority of the seed tested ranged between eighty and a hundred per cent however it shows a necessity of the establishment of some standard governing the sale of sunflower seed.

1925 In Chauvin

Chug! Chug! Chilling! Chilling! The pedestrian paused at the intersection of two busy streets and looked about. An automobile was rushing at him from one direction, a motorcycle from another, an autotruck was coming from behind and a taxicab was speedily approaching. Zip-zip, Zing-zing! He looked up and saw directly over him a runway airship in rapid descent. There was but one chance. He was standing on a manhole cover. Quickly seizing it he lifted the lid and jumped into the hole just in time to be run over by a subway train. (

Variety: The Spice Of Life

It is no so that in this age we are constantly looking for new ideas, new thrills, new emotions. We crave a change from the time worn things and seek the new. Just so with the tourists who have in many cases worn smooth the paths they have travelled for years and seek new scenes. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and Steamships have something new to offer in their Pacific Coast tours. It not only that they are new that fascinates, but they have variety. The ever changing scenes from rugged mountains as you enter the Canadian Rockies at Jasper Park, to the magic wonder of Mount Robson, the Bulkley Canyon and the Skeena river scenery to the valley lands with mountain scenery in the distance. Then the superb ocean passage through the quiet waters of the "Inside Passage" of the North Pacific Coast, is a sure panacea for all who weary of the land and love the sea.

The 700 mile, cruise from Prince Rupert to Seattle, calling at Vancouver and Victoria, on palatial steamships, is one not soon to be forgotten—a new er ending panorama of mountain scenery on either side. The side trips from Prince Rupert to Alaska coast (Stewart B.C.) and Prince Rupert to Observatory Inlet (Anxox B.C.) have a charm of their own.

For particulars, enquire of any Agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, or write W. E. Dupon, General Passenger Agent, Winnipeg Man.

DAIRY PRODUCTS AND DOMESTIC MANUFACTURES

Judging from the increasing numbers and excellence of our dairy products—with our new grading system to encourage merit, and induce good to be upheld with the best, we can foresee our province forging ahead to leadership in the output and excellence of her dairy products, over the older provinces, and, maybe, still older lands. This being so, it is up to our agricultural society to see that this feature should be encouraged by good prizes and improved by having competent judges whose verdict, as given on the score card should give the exhibitor valuable hints as to what is wrong, so that she may be able to remove the same. The making of good butter does not merely consist in churning it for a longer or shorter period, but starts with the first drawing stroke in the milk pail. If cleanliness is considered a matter of no importance, what matters our dairy school methods, or theories of butter making?

Butter making is an art and worthy of the greatest recognition for the health of the nation. As regards to the baking products, I think we should encourage the showing of as many varieties of the staff of life as possible. Man may not live by bread alone, but he's much more easy to live with, if the bread he does eat, is all that bread should be! And of course no western home or district fair looks quite fully furnished without some pie! It all depends, for the other fancy cooking, on the line of baking favored by the exhibitors for the assortment of fancy cakes. The war had a certain influence towards plainer baking, and the price of sugar and most of the other ingredients is liable to sustain the influence begun by war restrictions, and we are all the healthier for not indulging our sweet tooth overly much.

The prizes for the young children should be good—even if apparently out of proportion of the merits of the exhibit. A good prize has the effect of an incentive to make a try. Of course, in theory, we should all desire the honor more than the money part of the prize, but, money talks just as loud to the little boy or girl with the limp purse, as it does to mother and father. Indeed we're all Scotch when it comes to taking most interest in the thing there's the most 'money' in!

Also, I think new ideas each year for childrens work excite more interest and competition. We may all look on Alberta as much superior to any other, but even so, we get tired of the stereotyped prize for the best map of it, and so do the young map makers. It is good for men to see in a lifetime. I have said that it is a good thing to have women on the directorate because being women, they know a little more about the work, naturally, not to mention the relief they give to the average male director, who would rather tackle a bucking broncho any day than an innocent looking list of ladies work.

But, as well as that, for the running of the refreshment booth, and making it pay, in my humble opinion, the women come in real handy, and let me whisper it, show more aptitude at times. This, after all, is perfectly natural, seeing that it isn't what you earn, it's what you save. It is the man's place to provide money as a rule but is the woman's part to look after the distribution wisely so as it were—stop the leaks. It is the little leaks in the fair day refreshment booth, which later make the disturbing deficit and a woman has a quicker eye for little leaks than the men.

Also, the women directors, either as members of or socially acquainted with the women members of other societies in the town, such as the Women's Institutes, can by a friendly co-operation on a 50-50 basis (the only true basis of satisfaction) with those other societies do far more to help the success of the fair, than by working independently.

Indeed this welding of interests on fair day is, outside the primary idea of fair day—one of the most desirable points I see in the country fair. In the meeting of each other and in the exchange of help and intercourse, much of the petty antagonism, many of the little prejudices we harbour fold up their tents like the arana, and silently steal away. The district fair is a wise institution if it were for no other reason than that it provides a common meeting place for town and country, and a splendid opportunity for developing that community spirit which makes for progressive accomplishment, for the good of all parties.

Prejudices do not thrive in the sun? light of a mutual understanding.

Lastly it is well to remember that, rightly or wrongly, the district fair is, in the eyes of the beholder, a reflection of the district itself. If we allow our fair to look like "it just grewed" like Topsy, without any pruning on the one hand, or encouragement on the other we must not be surprised if we find ourselves in possession of a reputation as a district for showing the line of least resistance, (and a very slipshod line at that) in our farming and stock raising methods.

As farmers, as parents, and as fair directors with a love of our profession, and a desire to see it flourish, we want to make the good work of farming attractive and interesting to our young folks, so that the lure of the city will lose its charm, and they'll decide that the farming game is good enough for them. This being so we must not of a successful fair day, to mould the minds favorably, of the youthful on-lookers, or participants, towards the oldest and most honorable of all professions, I.e., filling the granaries and food stores of the world with food.

The government might go a little further and put a tax on the peeks in the peek-a-boo waists and everything.

With Marshall Foch warning the French that they must make preparation for future wars, and Field Marshall Wilson telling the British soldiers that they "must keep themselves fit for the time that is coming," the peace prospect does not seem so very bright after all. The great soldiers seem to be convinced that there is plenty of war work in store for the men of arms.
